ABOUT OUR DECEMBER 7, 2024 SPEAKER: MICHAEL TROY

Michael Troy grew up in Northern Delaware. In high school, he was an active member of the Delaware Historical Reenactment Society. He now lives in New Jersey where he is president of the American Revolution Roundtable of South Jersey.

He studied law and politics in school, attending George Washington University and the University of Michigan Law School as a Truman Scholar. He worked briefly on Capitol Hill for then Senator Joe Biden and Congressman Thomas Carper. He also did a short stint at the Federal Election Commission. After that, he worked as a civil rights lawyer in Washington DC.

For many years Mr. Troy worked at the Center for Individual Rights, litigating cases on Constitutional law, several of which went to the US Supreme Court. These included Rosenberger v. University of Virginia, Gratz v. Bollinger and Grutter v. Bollinger, as well as US v. Morrison.

In the late 1990's, his fascination with computers resulted in a career change. He has worked as a Director of IT and CIO for several law firms in Washington, DC and Philadelphia.

In 2015, Mr. Troy began the Unlearned History Blog, later turning it into a podcast. In 2017 he began publication of the American Revolution Podcast, serving as writer, producer, and editor, as well as the voice of the podcast. He has also given presentations at History Camp Boston, History Camp Virginia, and History Camp Valley Forge.
